

WRITING FOR LEXISNEXIS

We are always looking for new and enthusiastic authors at LexisNexis, and offer writing work to those who are experts in their field and wish to take advantage of the many benefits associated with writing for us.

The following are some of our flagship publications, and we are happy to hear from potential authors for all.

LEXIS PSL

LexisPSL is a new online practical guidance product, made up of practice notes and precedents written by our own lawyers here at Lexis, and also external contributors. We are always keen to hear from solicitors and barristers keen on writing short pieces for this product, and at any given time our commissioning editors will have a list of multiple titles they are looking to commission in a wide range of practice areas. The articles, or practice notes, are 2000 word chunks of practical advice for lawyers looking for a quick, how-to guide, and are published online. We pay a modest fee for this work, and also offer marketing benefits such as networking opportunities and online profiles on our website.

ATKINS COURT FORMS AND THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF FORMS AND PRECEDENTS

Whilst many volumes of these publications already have an established author team, we welcome ideas for how this content can be improved, and are always interested in hearing from solicitors and barristers who may be interested in updating both commentary and precedents.

TEXTBOOKS, HANDBOOKS, AND COMMENTARY TITLES

We welcome proposals for new titles where there is a clear gap in the market, and are also always pleased to take on board any feedback as to how our existing print titles can be improved. There are occasional authoring opportunities on established titles.
